Interdisciplinary Work

Examples include, but are not limited to: participatory installations or environments, live art, social justice works and public art. Theater, dance, or visual art that employs traditional methods of exploration are not appropriate for this category.

You may not submit manuscripts. Live performances cannot be attended.

- Work Samples - up to 10 digital images and/or 2 videos up-to 2-minutes each in length

Work Samples - Images and/or Video Footage of your Artistic Practice

Work samples are a representation of your artistic work created within the last five years. This is the most important part of your application, as it will be the primary point of review. Keep in mind the panel reviews a large volume of material in quick succession; therefore, it is very important that you present your work clearly.

Work Sample Inventory:

Applicants do not need to upload work samples in all types, however they can if they wish. Applicants should upload work samples in a format that best represents their practice.

IMAGES Applicants can submit up to 10 digital images. You do not need to submit all 10 work samples if you feel your practice is represented well with fewer.

We do not recommend applicants upload composite images. Each application can only have up to 10 artworks represented across work samples. Images of diptychs, installations, and multi-part works are not considered composites.

Work Sample Inventory: VIDEO Applicants may submit two 2-minute video footage of their work.

If submitting video footage, the application will need to select one video to be reviewed during the first round of review. The second video will be presented in the later rounds of review. Please ensure you uploaded the first-round video in the corresponding questions in the application form.

The two videos may relate to the same project or to two different projects. Submitting video samples consisting of multiple clips from different projects is not allowed. "Demo Reels" or highlight reels should also be avoided.

Titles and credits (without artist's name) are allowed, although applicants should consider whether this is needed within the video footage itself or if this information is clearly communicated in the labeling of the file and use of metadata. Video footage is never reviewed separately from the metadata included.

Work Sample Descriptions: Before you upload your files to your application, you will need to name your files. Do not label any work samples with your name. Instead, label each uploaded work sample starting with a number 01, 02, 03 ex. followed by the title of the work or 01 work sample, 02 work sample ... ex .

After your work samples have uploaded, you will be able to provide descriptions (metadata) for each submitted work sample, including title, date the work was created, duration, and additional information. If your piece is largely conceptual, and requires additional written context, please explain this in the "additional information" section using 1 - 2 sentences.

File Format: IMAGES

File name: label each image starting with a number 01 through 10, followed by the title of the work, ex. 01_Landscape.jpg Do not label the file with your name.

File size: No larger than 4.0 MB (each image)

File format: .jpg

When formatting your images, RGB is the recommended color profile for screen viewing and your image resolution should be at least 72 dpi to avoid pixelation. You can use image editing software such as Photoshop or Preview to edit, resize and format your images.

File Format: VIDEO

File name: label each file starting with a number 01 through 02, followed by the title of the work (label if an excerpt), ex. 01_Landscape.mov / 01_Landscape_Excerpt.mp4. Do not label the file with your name.

File size: No larger than 2 GB

Length: 2 video files, no longer than 2-minutes each

File format: .mov/.mp4

If your video files are too large, you'll need to compress them in order to upload them to the application. You can do so using video editing software, such as Movie Maker, Premiere, Final Cut, iMovie, etc.

When editing your video it is important to ensure your file is formatted correctly so that your video will play across a range of platforms whilst maintaining quality. Therefore it is important to choose the right codec and container for your file.

A codec is a method for encoding and decoding data and is used for compressing data, particularly video. Choosing the right container can depend on several desired outcomes, i.e. file size, playback quality, capabilities for re-editing etc. There are many codec and container combinations but h.264 and .mov or .mp4 are preferred as they are supported by a wide range of media players with little loss of quality.

Review Process - How Are Applications Reviewed?

Interdisciplinary Work applications are reviewed over the course of 3 elimination rounds. In Round 1, panelists review all applications remotely and vote online. In the following round panelists meet online and discuss applications and select Fellowship recipients.

In the preliminary rounds, applications are assigned a number and reviewed anonymously. In these rounds panelists are directed to review and score applications by the work samples and work statement only; up-to 10 images and one 2-minute video (selected by the applicant).

In later rounds panelists will have access to all submitted information.

Please note, panelists will not look at websites of any kind during the application review process. Submitting any work that has been awarded a NYSCA/NYFA Artist Fellowship in the past will automatically disqualify your application.
